Practice your Times Tables If you are shaky with your times tables, be sure to practice for at least five minutes each evening.	Complete a Plot Line for the fiction story that you are reading. As you read, fill in details about the exposition, rising action, climax, falling action (also called the dénouement) and resolution of the story.	What is the key to a healthy diet? Watch the brain pop video on nutrition. Write down key words while you watch. https://www.brainpop.com/health/nutrition/nutrition/
Use Dreambox for 15-20 minutes to practice your skills.	Find Inspiration... Keep track of interesting sentences and words that come up in your reading. Write them down so that you could use them as inspiration in your writing.	Mountain climber in training! Walk a bit each day to prepare your muscles for the Bear Mountain trek. Try to add more time to your journey each day to build your stamina.
Read the "Your Money" Time for Kids article. On the back, under "Leaving the Nest," information is shared about the cost of living for rent, utilities, etc. Choose one area and find out how much would be spent in 2 months, 6 months, and 12 months. CHALLENGE: Find the costs for 2 areas and add them together.	Character Analysis Complete the character analysis sheet to tell about the main character of your story.	Why do we need to eat and drink? Watch the brain pop video on body chemistry. Write down key words while you watch. https://www.brainpop.com/health/bodysystems/bodychemistry/
You will be given supporting homework to go along with the division work we are doing in class. That will complete this box for you!	Creative Writing Write a creative story using a picture, painting, or even something you saw in real life as your inspiration. Can you include dialogue and descriptive words in your story? Remember to apply all that you know about spelling, capital letters, and punctuation in your writing. You may also choose to add to the story you are writing in class.	Happiness Habit: Take Care of your Body Certain foods have greater nutrition values than others. After watching the video on nutrition, with your parent, plan a healthy lunch and snack to bring on our Bear Mountain adventure. Why are you choosing these foods? How will healthy foods help you have the stamina you need to climb the mountain?
